BRITISH SHOWN TO BE THE BUTCHERS OF THE WESTERN WORLD

Over the past week a small team of Chronicle reporters have been given full access to the city of Madrid by the German and Spanish Governments in order to file the following, harrowing report.

Last year members of the Dublin Chronicle news team reported on the British bombings on northern France and the Lowlands in which we say thousands of civilians killed and maimed by the bombers of the Royal Airforce.

This month has been just as harrowing. Having faced accusations of terror raids last year the British claimed that the attacks were no more than military raids gone wrong and gave assurances that such attacks would not happen again, and so it seemed for 3 months.

Then last month we witnessed the latest Allied atrocity, as upwards of 100 bombers with associated fighter escorts attacked the then undefended city of Madrid, the capital of Spain, a nation that at the time was considering moving to a neutral stance, a city that had no air defences and at the time housed no military forces, Spanish or other, a city full of innocents.

This did not seem to bother the RAF, who have destroyed most of the city centre and vast areas of the western quarter. Reports from the German and Spanish rescue teams indicate upwards of 30,000 killed and possibly ten times this injured, many with severe burns, with over 7,000 of these being children.

The city is a sham, the great monuments to the glories of the past long gone, the hospitals in ruins and the moral or the people destroyed. What did the British hope to gain..... Who knows, only the likes of Churchill. Will they turn on other cities, perhaps our own, after-all Ireland does not side with the British, perhaps Dublin will be next, or Cork?

Perhaps the British will seek to destroy all of the great cities now held by the Axis, Copenhagen, Amsterdam, Paris, Brussels, Antwerp, Lille, Marseilles..... Only time will tell.

No, it is not the might of the German army that Europe should fear, but the might of the RAF, a force now so immune to the death of civilians that they will bomb and destroy children's homes..... such as the St Mariona's orphanage, where we saw 34 children's bodies, burned beyond recognition. This is how the Allies will bring freedom to Europe, by death and destruction.
